SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around
And
About
Town

VACATION
It seems to me I'd like to go. Where bells don't ring nor whistles blow. Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs don't sound. And I'd have stillness all around. No real stillness, but just the trees' low whispering, or the hum of bees, or brooks' faint babbling over stones in strangely, softly tangled tones. For when it comes to getting rest like the country lots the town. Sometimes it seems to me I must just quit the city's din and dust. And get out where the sky is blue. And say, how does it seem to you?—Eugene Field.

By R. E. BACON

That's to wish you a most pleasant vacation, Skinny, and tells better than I can say what we wish for you. Seems I remember similar sentiments expressed by you to what constitutes a real vacation. Of course your gain is our loss and we miss you.

"There's a long, long trail awinding"—right here in Santa Ana. Have you ever noticed how omnipresent Skinny is? If you don't stay put, you are likely to meet him, almost anywhere in Santa Ana's downtown business section. If you don't move about too much yourself, he'll be around with his cheery "How are you?" Incidentally, he has covered some thousands of miles in his daily perambulations.

How many of us have taken Skinny's Skribbles a little too much for granted, as something to be awaited each day and enjoyed to the limit, but with little thought of what went into them? A few aimless pad scratches resolved themselves into some surprising statistics. For 28 months, without a break, we have read Skinny's column. That means 760 columns, and at 650 words a day, totals 494,000 words. Nearly a half million. And that's a lot of words, even when you discount the repetitions of "blonde" and "femme friend."

Speaking of the blonde, she's numerous on Skinny's trail (no pun intended). I saw at least 10 who could qualify, but her identity still remains a mystery. There's nothing like a good mystery. I wouldn't tell if I knew.

For a county cultivated to such crops as oranges and walnuts, there are a remarkable number of corn patches this summer. Wonder if all Iowans (and other Middle West-ers) feel a pang of nostalgia as they pass them? I know one who grows homesick in proportion to the height of the corn. The taller the corn, the more intense the memories of other days, and that despite the fact that a couple of youngsters followed row after row of growing corn, pulling the same mustard that is planted as a ground cover in California groves. Memories that bless—and burn!

"There's a long, long trail awinding"—and it leads right to our doors. C. F. Skirvin, Esq., has become a town character, a beloved and familiar figure, and a habit too comfortable ever to be broken. Watch from a distance the ripple of cheer and good fellowship that emanates from him in ever widening circles. He is blessed with the gift of making—and keeping—friends. He is the best exponent I know of the value of a smile. The following must have been written of just such a one as he:

"A smile costs nothing but gives much. It enriches the one who receives it without making poorer those who give. None so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none so poor but that he can be made rich by it. It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad. It cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too tired to give you a smile. Give them one of yours, as none needs a smile so much as he who has no more to give."

May Skinny's abundant supply never diminish.

Prize-Winning S. A. Parade Entry

"The Old Woman in the Shoe" was the theme of Santa Ana's trophy-winning entry in the Tournament of Lights at Newport-Balboa Saturday night. Shown are Velma Stroud, the "Old Woman" peering from a window, and students from the Vera Getty school of dancing, as her children. Paul M. Reynolds, Santa Ana fireman, designed the float, and Frank McCowen, also a fireman, was in charge of construction and lighting.

FLOOD TAX CUT $80,000

SESSION FOR CONGRESS 'INEVITABLE'

Solons Prepare for November Gathering

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative Miller (D., Ark.) indicated today after a White House call that President Roosevelt would make known within a few days whether there would be a special session of congress.

A few key men in congress, remaining in the Capitol despite adjournment, were quietly preparing, meanwhile, for a special session which they believed inevitable this fall.

MAN KILLED IN FIRE TRAP

Caught in his flaming house with no means of escape, Ernest J. Palmer, 617 Carnation avenue, Corona Del Mar, last night succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Workers Control Forest Blaze

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—The Mt. Seward forest fire was brought under control today by CCC and forestry service crews. The fire started Saturday and burned over 150 acres.

Famed Skeleton Missing; $25 Reward Offered

LONDON. (AP)—A reward of $25 was posted today for the return of a 250-year-old skeleton stolen from a prison cell.

The skeleton, chained upright to an oak chair, was stolen from Rye House at Hoddesdon, Hertfordshire, scene of the famous Rye House plot against Charles II.

The castle now is a tourist attraction. Its owner, T. Green, said he believed the "kidnaping" was somebody's "grizzly kind of joke."

The Rye House plot was a scheme by one of Cromwell's republican officers to murder Charles II and the Duke of York, later James II, in 1683. The plan was to kill them when they returned from the Newmarket races, but it was foiled when they returned a day ahead of schedule.

Superiors lopped that amount off, however, when Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner pointed out the bonds have not been issued, and there was no way of determining how much of the $250,000 would be sold before the end of the fiscal year.

Now should $1,000,000 in bonds be issued this year, only one payment would be due before the beginning of the next fiscal year in July, 1938. This payment would amount to less than $20,000, and would be taken from reserve funds.

At first, they said, she yawned one time right after another, but now she has improved until she yawns but once about every three minutes.

Doctors said her condition apparently was not serious. Diagnosis was difficult.

BOARD DROPS FIVE CENT FLOOD LEVY

Saving Made on Bond Interest Schedule

Saving of $80,000 additional for county taxpayers was revealed today, as supervisors dropped a five-cent district additional tax rate to cover flood control bond interest and sinking charges.

The $80,000 had been set up in the flood control district budget to make first payments on an undetermined amount of the $2,500,000 in bonds voted July 27 for county participation in the government's $15,000,000 flood control program.

Now should $1,000,000 in bonds be issued this year, only one payment would be due before the beginning of the next fiscal year in July, 1938. This payment would amount to less than $20,000, and would be taken from reserve funds.

Yawn Sickness Victim Studied

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Physicians studied the comparatively unusual case today of Mrs. Rita O'Conner, 38, who started yawning Aug. 5 and hasn't stopped yet.

At first, they said, she yawned one time right after another, but now she has improved until she yawns but once about every three minutes.

Doctors said her condition apparently was not serious. Diagnosis was difficult.

SANTA ANA WINS LIGHTS FETE AWARD

Sweepstakes Taken by Pasadena Entry

With all records for number of entries and crowds in the 29-year history of the event broken, officials of the Tournament of Lights association at Balboa announced today that Santa Ana Saturday night won first prize in the civic division of the spectacular water parade for cities of under 50,000 population. Pasadena won the sweepstakes prize.

The elaborate Santa Ana float brought applause from thousands who lined the banks of the bay to witness the five-mile parade. The entry was built on a large barge. A Mother Goose theme was followed by the builders, who constructed a huge shoe which was filled to overflowing with children.

Prizes for the various divisions will be awarded within two weeks, it is announced.

RUSSIAN PLANE CALLS HEARD

BARROW, Alaska. (AP)—Reports from Moscow that radio signals on the wave length of Sigismund Levanevsky's missing trans-polar plane had been heard spurred rescue fliers, grounded yesterday by fog, to new efforts today in search for the six lost adventurers.

The signals, heard yesterday, could not be interpreted but Soviet officials asked Northern Russian stations to broadcast rescue plans in an effort to encourage the fliers if they are stranded in some isolated Arctic point.

In the far northern outpost belief began to grow today the missing ship will be found "somewhere in Alaska."

Pilot Bill Knox, of Pacific Alaska Airways, said Alaska fliers firmly believed the plane had landed on Alaskan soil. It disappeared a week ago Friday on a 4,000 mile flight here from Moscow.

Jimmie Mattern, ace American flier, Bob Randall, Canadian, and Pilot Zedkoff, Russian flier, watched weather reports, impatient to take to the air again to resume their search.

Flapper Actress Seeks Divorce

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Alice White, the "script clerk who became a movie star during the late 20s" happened here today, sued her husband, Sidney S. Bartlett, for divorce.

In her complaint, Miss White says Bartlett earns $500 weekly as a scenario writer and that she is without funds. She asks $1000 a month alimony.

She charged Bartlett with cruelty and with associating with "numerous other women."

3 AMERICANS INJURED BY EXPLOSION

Blood Runs in Road As Thousands Flee

By MORRIS J. HARRIS

SHANGHAI. (AP)—An estimated 400 persons were killed and perhaps 1000 wounded, including three Americans, by a heavy artillery shell that smashed into a crowded department store section of the international settlement today.

Scores of Americans marvelously escaped death when a second projectile pierced the six-story United States naval warehouse and crashed through to the bottom, but failed to explode.

The wounded Americans were Anthony Billingham, staff correspondent for the New York Times; Hallett Abend, chief of staff for the New York Times in China; and Blanche Tenney, Shanghai-born American.

Other Americans may have been killed or wounded. Police said they were unable to estimate accurately the toll of injured and killed, but 1 counted 200 bodies and know there must have been as many more.

Origin of the department store shell was unknown. Some military experts said it may have been a 120-pound 8-inch shell, one of the Japanese warships off the coast were firing to protect landing of reinforcements.

The shell struck Nanking road at the busiest corner of Shanghai. On one side of the intersection, the huge seven-story building of the Sincere Co., Ltd., department store was crowded with shoppers.

Across the street the newly-opened 16-story building of the Wing On and Co. department store, somewhat larger, was equally jammed. The two stores are Chinese-owned.

After the explosion, Chinese and Japanese troops intensified the air, land and artillery battles on the fringes of the flame-swept city.

It exploded in a mass of humanity.

The fronts of the two Wing On buildings were blown away.

The entire facade and one whole corner of the Sincere and Company's great department store across the street also were blown out.

After the explosion, bricks, timbers and even steel girders hurtled through the air.

The crowd went crazy. Some probably were trampled to death. I saw Hallett Abend, wounded in the foot, fight his way through a mob—carrying Anthony Billingham.

SEEK CHICAGO SEX FIEND

CHICAGO. (AP)—The slaying of a pretty woman and assaults upon two other women—all in a 48-hour period—sent police on a round-up today of "every man with a record for any sex offense."

The latest assault victim was Mrs. Anna Hollander, 50, who was beaten and knocked unconscious by a negro in a south side prairie last night.

She said the man approached her from the field and struck her with his fists. Mrs. Hollander cried out: "Take my purse, take my purse," but instead he tore her dress and struck her again.

Frightened by a passing car, her assailant fled after leaving her on the ground unconscious.

Meanwhile, police guarded hospitals, nurses' homes, hotels and other living quarters for young women while authorities questioned more than 100 suspects in the rape-slashing of a 19-year-old nurse, and the razor assault upon another a few hours later.

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, ordered all districts to "bring in every man with a record for any sex offense," after Miss Florence Swanson, 34, was slashed with a razor by an intruder early Sunday.

Car Wreck Fatal to Girl Near Scene of S. A. Fliers' Death

Two young Santa Ana aviators were almost instantly killed today when their yellow monoplane crashed in a bean field on Paularino road; and eight-year-old Irene Opp died as the result of a Costa Mesa auto crash.

Ardell Sawyer, 16, 1721 West Eighth street, and Harold Willis, about 22, Bishop street, died as their plane crashed at 11:40 a. m., after the motor apparently failed.

WAR FLASHES

WELCOME REFUGEES
MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Child refugees screamed today as welcoming airplanes swooped low over the liner President Hoover, bearing 80 persons fleeing from the Shanghai war zone.

The vessel was held several hours at the breakwater while the passengers were inoculated against the dread d d cholera, smallpox and typhoid.

U. S. GOES RECOVERING
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, in command at Shanghai, advised the navy department today that all 17 sailors wounded by a shell that struck the cruiser Augusta were "doing well."

300 DIE IN LAKE
MADRID. (AP)—Spanish government officials said they discovered more than 3000 bodies when they drained a lake today in the eastern Mediterranean, near the Casa de Campo park.

Most of the bodies, they said, were of Moorish insurgent troops who died when an attack on government positions were repulsed last November.

BOMB BRITISH SHIP
PORT VENDRES, France. (AP)—The British freighter, Noemijulia, arrived here today undamaged by bombs launched at her by two mysterious airplanes in the western Mediterranean, near Spanish civil war waters.

The captain said the planes began dropping the bombs without warning. He was headed for Barcelona, Spain, and at the time was just off of Ajaccio, the capital of Corsica.

WYOMING FIRE TAKES 13 LIVES

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—Grimy rescue workers hunted through smoldering ruins of a charred mountain forest today, seeking additional victims of a gale-driven fire which burned 12 of their companions to death.

Two score others were injured—25 so seriously they required hospital treatment.

All the victims, many of them CCC enrollees from Texas, were fire fighters, trapped while battling the blaze in the Shoshone national forest in northwest Wyoming, which broke out Friday from an undetermined cause.

It blackened 1500 to 2000 acres of dense timber in the Absaroka mountains.

As the flames subsided slightly under a drizzling rain the searchers edged forward today.

"We don't know whether there are more men out there or not," said John Sieker, superintendent of the forest and leader of the drive against the flames in which 500 CCC members, rangers and bureau of public roads employees were participating.

Eight of the bodies were recovered yesterday. Three others were found last night among the gaunt skeletons of trees stripped of foliage and life by the flames.

The first person to die in a hospital was Roy Bevens, Civilian Conservation Corps enrollee from Smithville, Texas, who had gasped out, "God, how lucky I am to be alive," after he was carried from the inferno.

Identification of the charred bodies was a laborious process. CCC officers, forest service rangers and bureau of public roads officials all took turns viewing the bodies in a Cody morgue.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I've always been told that only the old-fashioned girls make good mothers. I don't doubt but that they make the best mothers, but I believe that the mother of four children is a matter how fast a pace a woman can lead, she can't get away from that mother instinct. I had a good chance to study that the other night, right here in Hollywood.

I went to one of those parties where they danced all night and one of the ladies in the party happened to be the mother of four children. She was one of the gayest ones in the party but I was a little bit disappointed because, all night long, she didn't mention her children at all and I began to think that she wasn't considerate of them and that she'd forgotten about 'em. But along about 5 o'clock when someone suggested that they go to a nightclub, her mother instinct came to the front. She says, "No, I'll soon be daylight and I have to get home and let the children in." She says, "They're too young to be trusted with a key!"

400 KILLED BY SHANGHAI SHELLFIRE

lapsed in the street. There were four shrapnel wounds in his chest. His left arm and hand were mutilated.

SHELL HITS PRISON

Two other shells whistled into the prison-stricken International zone. One struck the crowded Ward Road prison in the northern sector of the settlement. The other sheared through the walls of the naval warehouse and smashed into the concrete basement floor without exploding.

At the Sincere and Co. building the destruction was terrible. Only a few minutes before it had been crowded with shoppers.

Hundreds of bodies lay in piles. It seemed as if the force of the blast had gathered them up and rolled them together.

Most were twisted horribly. Many were burned. Others were torn apart.

BLOOD IN STREETS

Pools of blood glistened in street car tracks and gutters.

Fragments of heads, legs and arms plastered building fronts. Some were scattered in the street two blocks away.

Here and there a body dangled over railings. Parts of the balconies sagged forward with apparently nothing to support them.

An elevated traffic post bent drunkenly. The bodies of one Sikh and two Chinese officers, charred black, hung over the traffic post railing.

For blocks every pane of glass was shattered. The nineteenth floor of the Wing On tower showed the force of the blast. Its windows were broken, its walls were pitted from fragments blown skyward.

Inside the Wing On and Sincere buildings, the blast tore through like some unimaginable wind, taking all before it.

Many dead lay about the littered floors. Showcases, merchandise, fixtures—everything was blasted, torn and splintered.

Some elevators sagged between floors. In them were the bodies of shoppers who, only a few moments before, had been buying the "essentials of war" for existence in hungry, terror-ridden Shanghai.

These immense structures had been virtual beehives of humanity. Now they looked innumerable.

It was as if a shell had fallen on a crowded corner of Fifth avenue in New York or on State street in Chicago.

It will take days to count the dead. It even will take days to find many of the bodies.

In one part of the Wing On store a huge section of ceiling had fallen. There were perhaps a hundred persons buried beneath it.

The mass of debris lay untouched—police and relief workers were trying to save the living.

I did not see the bodies of any foreigners, but shortly before the explosion I saw a number of them shopping inside the stores.

The estimated deaths, even estimates by policemen on the scene, varied from low figures to some absurdly high. It seemed however, that the 400 figure likely would be accurate when the final story was told.

Police may never have an exact toll because the victims were carried away by screaming, crazed relatives to crowded native sections.

While the belligerent forces prepared for what many said would be the heaviest fighting yet, Americans and other foreigners hurried their evacuation plans.

The Dollar liner President Pierce is to sail for Manila by way of Hongkong tomorrow afternoon.

It will carry 160 Americans, mostly women and children, bringing the total of Americans evacuating to 1500.

The President Lincoln, leaving Aug. 28, is to carry 250 Americans. The Empress of Canada, scheduled to sail Wednesday, has booked a thousand British passengers and many other foreigners.

An American board of inquiry convened today to investigate shelling of a navy warehouse. A similar board sent to Washington its report on shelling of the U. S. S. Augusta Friday, which brought death to one seaman and injured 17 others.

The shell which struck the Ward Road prison threw the 6500 inmates into renewed terror. Evacuation of the prison started yesterday but was blocked by Japanese protests that many of the convicts were going into the Chinese army.

Some of the inmates are from 14 to 18-year-old juvenile offenders. Japanese claimed more than 50,000 reinforcements for their harried troops had been landed in the rear of the Chinese army at Woosung, 12 miles to the north, while their warships lining the Yangtze river hammered at the Chinese fortifications.

The sound of the artillery duel reverberated monotonously throughout the day. It was Shanghai's eleventh day of harrowing war and the northern and eastern sections of the city as well as the rich industrial suburb of Pootung across the Wungpoo river were in flames.

So fierce were the raging fires that all land operations in the fringes of the city were virtually suspended. Troops were driven from their positions by the flames.

The 50,000 fresh troops from the Japanese homeland were reported by the Japanese consular office to have been landed in the face of intense fire from Chinese land batteries in areas within 30 miles of Shanghai.

According to independent estimates the Japanese fleet in the waters around Shanghai now totals 82 warships of nearly all categories, including battleships and aircraft carriers.

Chinese asserted during raids by a new type of torpedoes "designed" had penetrated the Japanese fleet and sunk "several" cording to Bert Castalk, assistant coroner. The body is at the Dixon Funeral home in Costa Mesa.

Pasadena's Prize Winner

Mr. and Mrs. Cook live at 2435 Orange avenue, Costa Mesa. The deceased child lived at 2456 Orange avenue with her father, Fred Opp.

Miss Carroll lives at 280 Esta street, Costa Mesa.

Isabel Mendoza, 15, Olive, was slightly injured in an accident yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another driven by Alex Higuero, 30, Costa Mesa, at La Jolla and Rio Vista streets.

Higuero's car crashed broadside into the car driven by Rosario Mendoza, 43, after he is asserted to have failed to make a boulevard stop.

Three persons were injured in an accident early this morning and taken to the Orange County hospital for treatment, attendants reported. Serra Raynaga, 18, Redlands suffered a fractured collarbone. Other passengers of the car involved were Marcus Raynaga, 25, Route 4, Santa Ana, who suffered an injured shoulder, and minor cuts and bruises. A fractured leg was suffered by Estoria Montanez, 28, 1324 West Eight street.

GET FIRST AID

First aid treatment was administered to Claude Collard, 23, a sailor stationed at San Diego, according to attendants at the Orange County hospital.

James Gross, 40, 409 Fourth street, Buena Park, was struck by an automobile when he was walking across the street at Manchester boulevard and Fullerton street in Buena Park Saturday night. Officers said he was struck by a car driven by Charles R. Brown, 43, Whittier, who is said to have swerved his car in an attempt to avoid colliding with another automobile.

Minor injuries were sustained by John R. McCulley, 26, Coronado, on the La Habra-Buena Park road Saturday night. His car crashed into the Grand avenue underpass.

ROLLS OVER BANK

Pierce Farrow, Los Angeles, narrowly escaped injury when his car ran off the highway near Crystal Cove and rolled over the embankment to the bottom of the gulch. He jumped from his car just as it left the highway.

Struck by a motorcycle in Anaheim last night, L. M. Burgess, 42, 314½ Vine street, Anaheim, was cut on his left leg and received minor lacerations. The motorcycle was driven by Don J. Faulk, Beaumont.

No one was injured when cars driven by Grant E. Tunney, La Crescenta, Calif., and John Kane, 410 East Fourteenth street, collided at Washington avenue and Logan street yesterday.

After an accident on Third street between Main and Sycamore yesterday, Kirby, 301 Fruit street, was booked at the county jail on charges of drunk driving. Kirby's car crashed into the left front wheel of an auto driven by Charles Ishii, route 3, box 375, Santa Ana, while traveling east on Third. Ishii was driving west.

Young Sawyer's father met a tragic death only a few weeks ago in an auto accident while driving through Arizona.

my guest editors quit too soon. They tire quickly, or maybe they are too modest and do not wish to use so much room. I've never had any trouble getting Rodney Bacon to talk enough, but he is shy when it comes to filling my allotted space. I'm thankful, for not the amount he used, but what he said. When I got a chance to talk into his microphone I'll tell him a story about Eugene Field, which he can repeat, under certain restrictions. He makes some sentimental selections which are indicative of an affection which places me under a cocola obligations to him. The gallery boy laid the proof of his guest column on my desk before I picked up my coat Saturday p. m. and I observed the brevity of his contribution. So this added paragraph, while not at all essential to his communication, is just a space-filler. I'm used to supplying that sort of material, and sometimes my clientele reads it—Skinny.)

HARVESTING OF BEANS STARTS TODAY

Harvesting of a bumper crop of lima beans in Orange county got under way today.

Throughout the county growers began cutting the beans and stacking them in piles for drying. The beans will be dried for about three weeks, and then bean association houses in the county, and threshing will open and threshing will start.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor in charge of truck and field crops, said today he expects threshing to start in about three weeks. There are four lima bean association houses in the county, located in Greenville, Smeltzer, Garden Grove and Irvine.

Heavy rains and almost ideal growing conditions have resulted in an unusually big crop this season, Cory said. He pointed out that the bureau of agricultural economics figured 1,995,000 bags of limas were harvested from 153,000 acres in the state last year.

The July forecast for the state is a crop of 2,223,000 bags from 171,000 acres. Last year there were 27,466 acres of land in Orange county devoted to lima bean raising.

The acreage has increased somewhat this year. Lima beans constitute one of Orange county's most important field crops, bringing in a total revenue of $2,340,700 last season for a production of 34,193,000 pounds. Baby limas brought in another $5200.

Harbormaster T. E. Bouchey and members of his department, who were in charge of the course, and Fire Chief Frank Crocker, who handled safety arrangements.

Charges Attack With Jack Handle

Charged with assaulting Jesse Hernandez with a deadly weapon Friday night, Frederico Gonzales, Ward and Talbert roads, was arraigned today in justice court, and his preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 26, at 9 a. m.

Hernandez alleges that Gonzales hit him over the head with an iron jack handle three times Friday night when he was getting into his car. He claims that Gonzales and Lerno Luna took his pocket-book and that, when he went to get into his car, he was struck by the defendant.

The defendant was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Walter Dungan and Ed Hoffman. Hernandez was taken to the Orange county hospital, where 16 stitches were required to close the wound.

COAST PATROL ON CALL DAILY

If you need the new county coast life saving patrol, you need do so call the sheriff's office for it and it will be sent you—at any hour of the day or night.

This was the information released today by Dana Lamb, in charge of the patrol, after a misunderstanding regarding the time of operation of the patrol. In a statement today, Lamb disclosed that the patrol is on call 24 hours daily.

"The coast patrol is on duty from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. every day of the week," he said. "Recently the patrol work was extended to Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The coast patrol car is on call from 8 a. m. until midnight on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and in case of emergency can be reached by telephone 24 hours a day in the week. The statement that the patrol truck was only on duty Friday, Saturday and Sunday, was an error due to misinterpretation of the additional time schedule," Lamb said.

Young Democrats Name New Head

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Pitt Tyson, Maner, Montgomery, Ala., newly elected president of the Young Democratic club of America, greeted party leaders here today and prepared to take over the organization's national headquarters.

Maner came to Washington last night from Indianapolis where the Young Democrats held their convention. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ocie Heady, Oklahoma City, vice president; Paul Williams, Columbia, Mo., secretary, and John M. Bailey, Hartford, Conn., treasurer.

Maner has been secretary to Governor Bibb Graves of Alabama.

$386,514 TO BE RAISED BY S. A. TAX

Santa Ana's tax rate for the new fiscal year, scheduled to be set by the city council tonight at a special meeting, will raise $386,514. It was announced today by City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

The $386,514 which will be raised by taxation this ensuing fiscal year compares with $362,270 raised last year, when the tax rate was nine cents lower than this year.

RATE IS $1.59

Banks today received official figures on the assessed valuation of Santa Ana from County Auditor W. T. Lambert. There were no changes in the figures, which were submitted to the city as estimates about a week ago.

The tax rate scheduled to be adopted by the city council tonight is $1.59 per $100 in assessed valuation. Last year it was $1.50. The increase in the rate was the result of a pay increase given to city employees.

Official assessed valuation of the city of Santa Ana for the new fiscal year is $24,309,100 as compared with $24,017,940 last year.

$26,000 INCREASE

These figures represent the total taxable value of the city, excluding intangibles. Public utilities in the city were assessed at $2,287,530. The total valuation of Santa Ana including intangibles was set at $26,073,055.

The tax rate is levied on the figure representing the total assessed valuation excluding intangibles. The increased rate and increased valuation will result in raising of about $26,000 more this year than last.

Tonight will be the last meeting at which the council can set the tax rate.

REBELS HAMMER AT SANTANDER

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border. (AP)—Hammering at the government's "iron ring" around Santander, five insurgent columns drove forward today to consolidate their control of the Spanish Biscayan coast.

The high command of the insurgents claimed they occupied 20 villages between Valmaseda and Villa Santa de Mena, as Gen. Francisco Franco's troops pushed toward Santander from five directions.

One column drove southwest into the Valley De Mena, turned about and assisted three other columns, pointing from Reinoso, Corconte and Villa Carriedo, in their drive to the north.

Merriams Return To Long Beach

SALINAS. (AP)—Governor and Mrs. Frank E. Merriam, injured in a highway traffic accident near here Friday, left today for their Long Beach home.

Mrs. Merriam, who had been in a Salinas hospital since the accident, was taken south in an ambulance. Governor Merriam followed in an automobile.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Merriam was "greatly improved." Governor Merriam was only slightly injured.

LA HABRA MAN KILLS SELF

A verdict of suicide had been reached today in the death of William Weaver, 52, La Habra, a citrus man whose body was found at his home Saturday night.

A coroner's jury reached a verdict of suicide after Mrs. Imogene Weaver, his wife, found her husband dead from a 32 caliber revolver wound in his head.

He left a note to his wife, according to Coroner Earl Abbey, who was in charge of the inquest. Weaver had large oil holdings in Santa Fe Springs. He also was owner of citrus and avocado property in La Habra and La Habra Heights.

Besides his widow, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Weaver of Whittier, and a sister, Mrs. Rosetta Koonz, La Habra.

His body was taken to the White-Emerson Funeral home in Whittier.

Welfare Post to Meet Tuesday

Regular meeting of the Santa Ana General Welfare Legion post will be held in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced today by President Frank Kendall.

The meeting will be held in the Sycamore street entrance of the Y. M. C. A. Latest developments in the drive for enactment of the General Welfare act of 1937 will be discussed and plans made for a mass meeting to be held in the Santa Ana American Legion hall the evening of Aug. 31.

At the mass meeting Aug. 31 Dr. Joe M. Nation of Long Beach, well-known Townsend plan orator, will be the speaker, taking for his subject "Smoke Screeners Our Big Hindrance to Success." A general invitation to the public to attend the meeting will be extended.

At the mass meeting Aug. 31 Dr. General Welfare Legion post will be held in the social hall of the Community church tonight, according to an announcement by Mrs. F. A. Parsons, president. H. F. Kenny, secretary of the 19th district organization, will be the speaker. The public is invited.

COLLINS DIES OF INJURIES

Injuries sustained in a tractor accident late Friday afternoon resulted in the death of Arthur E. Collins, 46, of 870 Lower C street, Tustin, in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, yesterday.

An inquest in the fatal accident is pending. Collins was driving a tractor on the Paul Jordan ranch near San Juan Capistrano when the accident occurred. He is believed to have been attaching a furrowing machine when the tractor got out of control and ran over him, crushing his chest and causing internal injuries.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen N. Collins; and four children, Louis E. Collins, Helen L. Collins and Erline E. Collins, all of Tustin, and Mrs. Nick Lowry of Anaheim. Funeral services will be announced later by Brown and Wagner.

PEST WAR IN THIS AREA ENDS TODAY

Million Spent Here in Citrus Orchard Work

The annual million-dollar war waged by citrus growers against pests that injure their fruit rapidly approached a close today.

With spray guns and poison gas loosed from beneath tents thrown over the trees, the war has been carried on since the first of the month.

Weather has been exceptionally fine for the annual pest control campaign, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs told The Journal today. He said that the pest control work has been most successful this year, mainly because of the fine weather.

Tubbs estimated that the citrus growers of the county spend more than a million dollars each year in the battle against the citrus pests.

The commissioner said pest control work in the central and western sections of the county is ending now, and that in the eastern part of the county the campaign will be carried on for approximately two weeks more.

Control work has been carried on day and night since the first of this month, Tubbs said. He urged growers in the central and eastern part of the county to complete their control work against black scale at once. He said there should be no delay in getting the scale control work done.

The war will be resumed when fumigating of citrus trees starts.

CLAIM POLICE BRUTALITY IN STRIKE

BANNING. (AP)—Another charge of police brutality today punctuated the calm otherwise prevailing along the strike front of the San Jacinto tunnel project.

J. B. Leaver, spokesman for the striking Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, declared that a picket, Clarence E. Wallace, 30, of Los Angeles, was beaten by guards who demanded that he remove a union button.

Leaver said the attack occurred when Wallace left a Metropolitan Water District hospital after receiving treatment for an injured thumb.

D. C. Ledbetter, chief engineer on the tunnel project, part of the Colorado river aqueduct, said he had not been informed of the incident.

Ledbetter said that Sheldon Brown, a striker, was under arrest charged with assaulting a contractor who did not go out on strike.

The walk-out began Aug. 14. The strikers demanding reemployment of discharged fellow-workers, union recognition and hiring preference.

New Complaint in Love Balm Suit

Mrs. Edith P. Crooke, wife of a Los Angeles water pipe salesman, today had on file in superior court an amended complaint for alienation of affections against Mrs. Ruby Bush, secretary to City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

Mrs. Crooke asks $25,000, charging Mrs. Bush stole the affections of George Arthur Crooke.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel on Friday sustained a demurrer by Mrs. Bush's attorneys, Lew Blodgett and Thomas Kuchel, on grounds the original complaint was uncertain as to when the alleged alienation took place.

Today's amended complaint specifies that the alleged alienation took place within the past year.

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK. (AP)—After a feeble rallying flourish at the opening, stock market leaders skidded into losses of 1 to 2 or more points today.

Steels led the decline in one of the slowest sessions of the year. The ticker tape barely moved during the greater part of the proceedings, but volume picked up a bit in the final hour when prices were at their worst. Extremes losses were reduced in many cases before the close.

The apathetic slide was attributed by brokerage quarters partly to further disturbing war news from the far East. Broadening of Sino-Japanese conflicts, it was feared, might have repercussions on world trade recovery.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 550,000 shares.

Townsend News Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

Today's column is being written in the Y. M. C. A. in the very heart of the business district of San Francisco on a typewriter which is equipped with a money slot in which you place a dime for the privilege of typing one half-hour. The writer arrived less than an hour ago in this city and will proceed shortly to take in the town including the new San Francisco-Oakland bridge.

This is Friday, Aug. 20. The weather is beautiful except somewhat cooler than at home and the wind blows some high fog up from the bay and ocean but only in spots, letting the blue sky through, with the sunshine generally in predominance.

In the Palo Alto paper of last evening the writer read of a Townsend meeting pot-luck dinner affair held there in which some 80 people were at the tables. From this it can be seen that he is keeping an eye out for matters of Townsend interest.

Mrs. Robb is along, as is his son, Francis, and wife of Safford, Ariz., and the hours are being very pleasantly spent.

When the writer left it was being planned that Santa Ana Club No. 2 would have a speaker at its 7:30 meeting tonight, being held in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street with Pope R. Long, president, in control. The thought then was to have a speaker from Los Angeles. So everybody of the Santa Ana Townsends should take note and attend.

District Manager J. H. Walsh is scheduled to address the Garden Grove club, which meets at 6:30 this evening at the Masonic hall. Mr. Miller will be in the chair to direct the meeting which follows the dinner and will introduce the speaker.

Tonight at 7:30 the La Habra club will meet at the Masonic hall. (There, this typewriter got hungry and had to be fed another dime and now it's willing to travel again.) E. E. Proud, will be the presiding officer tonight.

Tustin club is meeting again this evening. A. E. Thomas is the presiding officer and reports will be made concerning the talked-of new meeting place.

J. A. Green will be in the chair at 7:15 tonight when Orange club No. 1 will meet in the Townsend club building at 149 South Glassell street for its regular weekly meeting. The seats have been changed around in the hall, making its appearance much better in the opinion of the writer and more convenient for both the speaker and the audience. You will be welcome to attend this club's meetings.

All Orange county Townsends should help Costa Mesa clubs have a great meeting at 7:30 tomorrow night when they have the grand opening of their new Townsend hall at 22nd and Newport Beach boulevard. The Hurd-Lentz orchestra and other musicians will furnish music, when the writer left George D. Higgins of Los Angeles was being planned as the speaker. The writer expects to be home in time to attend this meeting. And with that he says, "Adios for tonight."

Gandhi Has High Blood Pressure

BOMBAY, India. (AP)—Homan-das K. Gandhi, leader of the Indian nationalist movement, today was advised by his physician to take a complete rest. He was found to be suffering from high blood pressure.

From 1934 until early this year Gandhi, still in the Mahatma or "great souled" to the Indian masses, was in virtual retirement. He emerged on the eve of India-wide legislative elections, however, and recently has been active in the cause of freedom from the British empire.

Clym of the Clough, legendary English archer, is said to have lived one generation before Robin Hood.

TRAFFIC LAW UNIFORMITY IS URGED

National Survey Report Completed

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The bureau of public roads, completing a $75,000 national survey of traffic conditions, filed a report with congress today urging "appropriate steps" be taken to obtain uniformity in state and local highway and motor laws.

The report noted wide variations in speed and other road rules, inspection, license suspensions and requirements of drivers' financial responsibility.

Strict and uniform examinations of drivers and better laws for re-proceeding after accidents are needed, the bureau said.

The study was undertaken more than a year ago under instructions from congress. It was limited to accidents and responsibility of the driver.

Pointing to 37,800 deaths on streets and roads in 1936, the bureau said "traffic accidents and fatalities have reached proportions that place them in the front rank of critical national problems."

"In the individual driver and pedestrian are elements most directly responsible for present conditions," it added.

The age group 16-25 years provides a disproportionate share of fatal and personal injury accidents, the report said.

The bureau suggested also that uniform minimum standards be developed for methods of obtaining facts of accidents and attendant circumstances, careful study of inspection services and the desirability of expanding highway patrols.

Wilbur Shaw Enters Turtle Race Event

EVANSVILLE, (AP)—Wilbur Shaw, winner of the 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis this year, will have an entry here a week from Sunday in—of all things—a turtle derby.

Rules have not been announced.

Shaw raced to fame over the Indianapolis 2 1/2 mile oval at better than 113 miles an hour, but he would not venture a guess as to how fast his turtle would go.

Acquit Miner on Old Death Charge

INEZ, Ky. (AP)—Harvey Hardin, 44-year-old mining engineer, was acquitted today of charges that he slew James A. Watterson, 62, a wealthy timberman 24 years ago because of jealousy over a woman.

Hardin was indicted last April after Mrs. Viola Runyan Harless, 33, testified that as a girl of nine she saw him creep into Watterson's bunkhouse where she slept and shoot Watterson.

Mrs. Harless' mother, now Mrs. Polly Runyan Shuranofsky, 51, at that time Watterson's housekeeper, was named by the commonwealth as the woman in the case. She also was indicted, charged jointly with murder. Hardin was tried separately.

Work Halts Movie Pair's Honeymoon

SANTA BARBARA, (AP)—Film work put a temporary halt today to the honeymoon of John Howard Payne and Ann Shirley, who were married here yesterday.

Payne, screen actor and grand nephew of John Howard Payne, who composed "Home Sweet Home," was on call to complete work in his latest picture today. Payne and Miss Shirley also of the screen, motored from Hollywood to Santa Barbara yesterday and were married in a hotel by Justice of the Peace Ernest W. Wagner.

Religious Rite Causes Death

CHICAGO, (AP)—Mrs. Rose Monaco, 70, died in a hospital last night of infected burns on her feet which members of her family said she suffered a week ago while walking barefoot on the hot pavement during a religious procession.

Mrs. Monaco and others who took part in the ceremony marched eight blocks over the sun-baked pavement after leaving a church.

Tower of Food

The largest food supply in the county on one of the cereal products of General Mills is now at the Alpha Beta South Main street store, one of the county's largest markets. The unusual display is attracting great interest due to the mammoth size and unique method of showing the product.

GAS OFFICE HAS NEW AIR PLANT

Installation of a natural gas air conditioning plant, an entirely new type of equipment to this coast, was begun today at the Southern Counties Gas Company office building at 207 West Second street.

This new method of air conditioning combines summer cooling with winter heating in a single installation, according to Fred G. Merker, local manager of the gas company.

Manufactured by the Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating corporation of Bloomington, Ill., the machine employs a type of refrigeration similar in principle to the Electrolux gas refrigerator for the cooling system. Under this method of refrigeration heat activates a simple refrigerant to produce low temperatures.

Controlled thermostatically to maintain a comfortable temperature at all times, the plant is capable of producing a differential of 10 to 15 degrees between inside and outside temperatures. The air also is filtered, excessive moisture is removed and positive forced ventilation sends a stream of cool, clean, dehumidified air through every room.

In the winter time, a low pressure gas-fired steam boiler furnishes steam for radiation and air tempering. The plant operates in conjunction with the heating system.

The ventilating mechanism may be operated alone in weather that requires only a relatively small lowering of inside temperature for comfort.

"The use of natural gas to activate the refrigeration mechanism

15 MISSING ON BROOKLYN TUG

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Coast guard boats braved heavy seas and high winds today to hunt miles offshore for three craft reported missing in the northeast storm which whipped the New Jersey coast.

Fifteen persons were aboard one of the missing boats, which was reported to the Coast Guard as the United Drydock tug No. 11 of Brooklyn. The number of persons aboard the other two boats, reported missing from their Long Island basins, was not known.

The Coast Guard reported 101 persons had been rescued from 14 boats after the storm struck. No storm deaths were reported along the coast but inland a bolt of lightning caused one fatality.

Bakersfield Fire Loss $150,000

BAKERSFIELD, (AP)—Destruction of the Hayward Lumber company plant here by fire yesterday caused a loss of $150,000, it was unofficially estimated. The blaze extended over three blocks before it was suppressed.

eliminates all major moving parts, and it is expected that the plant will have a very long life," said Merker. "In addition, the use of natural gas produces an operating cost estimated to be between 15 and 20 per cent lower than any other summer and winter air conditioning machine."

"We have already installed a similar one in our Pomona office building," Merker said.

PLAN 'GEISHA GIRL' SHOW NEXT MONTH

Three performances of "The Geisha Girl" are to be given in Orange county during the first week of September by the combined units of the San Diego and Orange County Federal Music Projects, according to Leon Eckles, local project supervisor.

The first performance will be given at the Fullerton High school, Wednesday evening, Sept. 1. The performance will be repeated at the Santa Ana High school Thursday evening, and again in Laguna Beach, Friday night.

A company of 50 will present the scintillating comic opera under the direction of Julius Lieb, well known conductor. The principals are to be drawn from the San Diego project in which they performed the musical vehicle during National Music Week. With the cast augmented by this county's federal chorus and the accompaniment provided by the Symphony orchestra, the production is to be given on a large scale.

From the pen of Sidney Jones, "The Geisha Girl" is replete with witty lines and gay melodies. Its theme concerns the visit of a British naval party to Japan with ensuing complications that provide uproariously funny dialogue. Gorgeous costumes and colorful stage settings authentically carrying out the charm of its oriental locale contribute toward making the production an elaborate one.

Charles Cannon, who stopped the show as Koko in "The Mikado," is cast as Wun Hi, the much-badgered Chinese manager of a Japanese tea house—a comedy role that is good for a continuous laugh.

Opportunity to enjoy the always sprightly characterizations of Carmen Conger and Genevieve Roberts, remembered for their portrayals of Hansel and Gretel here last May, will again be given local audiences. The piquant Miss Conger will sing the role of O Mimosa San, and Miss Roberts that of Molly Seamore.

The performance in all three cities is to be given at nominal prices, project officials announce. Tickets for the Santa Ana production will go on sale Wednesday, Sept. 1, at the high school box office, open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mail and telephone reservations can be made through the office of the Federal Music Project at 431 West Third street.

PAVING JOB TO BE AWARDED

Contract for the repaving of North Broadway from First to Tenth street is expected to be awarded by the city council at a special meeting tonight.

At another special meeting held last Wednesday night by the council, awarding of the bid for the paving job was made a special order of business for the adjourned meeting set for tonight.

The city council received three bids on the paving job, the lowest of which was from the Oswald Brothers contracting firm of Los Angeles. The low bid was $32,941.49. The Sully-Miller firm of Long Beach bid $33,839.26 and Wells and Bressler, Orange county contractors, bid $39,429.92.

The bids also included figures on the installation of a new culvert at the intersection of Fourth and Sycamore streets. A breakdown of the bids by City Engineer J. L. McBride showed that Wells and Bressler bid $37,700 on the Broadway job and $1729.92 on the culvert job; Sully-Miller $32,480.14 on the Broadway paving and $1359.12 on the culvert. The Oswald Brothers $31,683.47 on the culvert work.

10 INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Ten passengers of a Southern Pacific train, injured when it crashed into an empty baggage car at Central station, were recovering today from cuts, sprains and bruises.

Most of the passengers, returning merrymakers from the fiestas in Santa Barbara, were standing in the aisles when the accident occurred. They were thrown against chairs and on the floor.

After receiving first aid treatment, seven were released. Miss Agnes Wagner, 35, telephone operator of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Miss Josephine Kelly, 44, of Long Beach, and Miss Mercedes Marquez, 17, of Los Angeles, remained at a hospital for further medical attention.

MAYOR APPEALS FOR U. S. AID IN RAT WAR

ASKS REASON FOR TRUCE
WITH RODENTSHealth Expert Warns
About Pest Danger

Mayor Fred C. Rowland took up the matter of rats with Uncle Sam today.

He wrote a letter to WPA officials, asking why it is that the federal government will not help Santa Ana finance its rat extermination project any longer. Uncle Sam has declared a truce in the war on rodents.

Members of the city council and the health department are perturbed over the situation since work was halted on the rat trapping project. Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, told The Journal today that if the work in killing rats is not continued they will multiply at an alarming rate.

$750,000 DAMAGE

The health department estimated that rats caused damage amounting to about $750,000 last year, even while the rat killing project was in full swing. It was estimated that there are more than 70,000 rats in the city right now.

Rats and other rodents are the reservoir and source of several diseases of man, of which plague is the most serious and widespread. Rodents comprise more than one-third of all living species of mammals and exceed any other mammalian order in number of individuals.

EAT MANY FOODS

Rats are like man in that they learn to eat foods of the locality in which they live and will often ignore foods selected by rats in other places.

The destruction of food, crops, merchandise and property by rats is so great that this alone would justify active measures of suppression, even though they were not responsible for plague, trichinosis and other infections, experts say.

Rats destroy grain, vegetables and other crops while growing; invade stores, destroy flowers, laces, silks, carpets, fruits, vegetables, meat and other foods in markets; destroy by pollution 10 times more than they eat; cause conflagration by dragging matches into their holes; gnaw lead pipes and floors of houses; ruin artificial ponds and embankments by burrowing; destroy eggs and young poultry; damage foundations, pipes, in short, have become the worst mammalian pest in the world.

HUGE BOARD BILL

Rats are usually intelligent, keen and cautious. Extermination is probably a biologic impossibility, for killing off large numbers gives the survivors an easy living. Rats actually destroy more eggs, chickens and game than all the wild animals combined.

According to government experts, the cost of a rat ration is about one-half cent a day, which makes the annual board bill of the rat population of the nation about $182,000,000. This does not include property and other damage.

Osceola Boys to Leave Saturday

Boys from all Orange county leave next Saturday at 7 a. m. for Osceola, Orange county, Y. M. C. A. boys' camp. This is a special period for younger boys, nine to 12 years of age. GROWERS GIVEN ACREAGE GAIN
LAST PAYMENT FOR EXCHANGE

Orange county and other valencia growers affiliated with the California Fruit Growers exchange have been sent final payment on returns from the Exchange Orange Products company, it was announced today.

The final payment amounted to $137,235 on the 1935-36 products of the exchange, bringing the total payment for fruit in that pool to $320,215, including the two payments previously made.

In addition, the company paid $12,388 for juice oranges purchased from the exchange during the season at the regular market price and used in the manufacture of products. This made the total amount of money returned to exchange associations by the company for all oranges in the pool or bought for processing last year up to $532,603.

At the same time it was announced that extension to Oct. 31, 1938, of the $1.35 per cwt. emergency freight rate on California and Arizona citrus fruit to blanket territory has been approved by the traffic executives of the transcontinental lines.

To become effective, concurrence of the Eastern carriers is required, it was announced. It is understood that this concurrence will be given promptly, the exchange said.

RETURNS ON ORANGES
TO HOLD UPAverage Prices Go Up
In Month of July

Total returns on the Orange county and Southern California valencia crop will compare favorably with those of a year ago if the present trend of demand holds steady until the crop is entirely marketed.

This announcement was made today by the California Fruit Growers exchange in a review of the marketing conditions which have prevailed during the past month.

Average prices on valencias near the close of the month were about 80 cents per box higher than was the case earlier in the month, it was reported. The average f. o. b. return per box on valencias was 50 cents higher than in the previous month. The volume sold was only slightly less than the previous month.

The average return per box was higher than in any month since November, 1936. The volume, however, was less than in any preceding July since 1930, being 30 per cent under a year ago, 27 per cent less than two years ago, and 21 per cent less than the five-year average.

The quantity of fruit actually harvested averaged around 1550 cars weekly as compared with 1808 cars a year ago, a decrease of only 14 per cent. It was necessary to cull out about 34 per cent this last July as compared with about nine per cent a year ago.

DEFER TRIPLE
DEATH TRIAL

The third trial in San Diego of Walter Awe, accused of the traffic killing of three men 150 yards south of the Orange-San Diego county line, June 15, will not be heard until some time in November.

Awe's attorney, J. A. Donnelly, wants to take a trip to Europe and Superior Judge Lloyd Griffin of San Diego thinks the trip is a "fine idea."

Scheduled for setting Saturday, the trial was postponed when Awe's attorney said he twice had had to postpone a trip "looked forward to for 20 years" because of the state's determination to get either a conviction or acquittal of the accused San Andreas man.

Judge Griffin granted the request to continue trial setting until the first week in November. Awe is accused of striking Alexander and Ernest Gill and Frank Moors as they were attempting to change a tire on their truck just south of San Clemente. His first two trials resulted in hung juries.

Negro Dies in Carnival Fight

WHEATLAND, Calif. (AP)—Coroner J. P. Sullivan ordered an inquest today into the fatal shooting of Stephen Murray, 25, a negro, after that sheriff's deputies said was a fight between Murray and two other negroes at a carnival.

The deputies said Murray was shot yesterday by Arthur Kaiser, 25, a special officer employed at the carnival grounds, after Murray had resisted efforts to get him to leave.

SCHOOL BELL TO RING IN
FOUR WEEKSBulletin to Teachers
Heralds Fall Term

Less than four short weeks are left. And then faces and necks will be gathered in protesting arms and school bells will ring.

Although all the school kids in Orange Tuesday evening are doing their damndest to forget that there is such a thing as a fall school term, teachers already are making plans for opening of the new school year.

OPEN SEPT. 13

Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, sent bulletins out to all local school teachers today, informing them of plans for launching the work of the new term.

Schools here will open on Sept. 13.

Last spring at the close of school it was announced that the 1937-38 year would open on Sept. 13, and that all teachers would be expected to report for a preliminary meeting on the Saturday preceding. That plan has been abandoned, and instead a similar meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 14.

OTHER MEETINGS

The board of education will sponsor the meeting, which will be in the nature of a business meeting combined with a reception for new teachers. Other meetings planned to be held in the board of education offices are as follows: Sept. 9 at 9 a. m., meeting for all new elementary teachers; Sept. 9, 2:30 p. m., meeting for all principals; Sept. 10, 9 a. m., meeting for all first grade teachers; Sept. 10, 1:30 p. m., meeting for all elementary teachers.

These meetings are in addition to school faculty meetings, which will be held at other times.

Gas Tax Income
Gains in July

SACRAMENTO.—Income from California's gasoline tax continued to gain during July, the state board of equalization reported today.

For the month of July, income amounted to $4,576,152.78 for last month, an increase of 2.44 per cent over the same month of the preceding year and slightly under the $4,628,691.58 collected during June, 1937, the report revealed.

Assessment of the tax for July was levied against the sale of 152,538,426 gallons of gasoline as compared with the previous month total of 155,848,197 gallons.

Elks Will Honor
Singing Champs

Elks will honor their national champion double quartet tomorrow evening with a dinner meeting and vaudeville show, it was announced today.

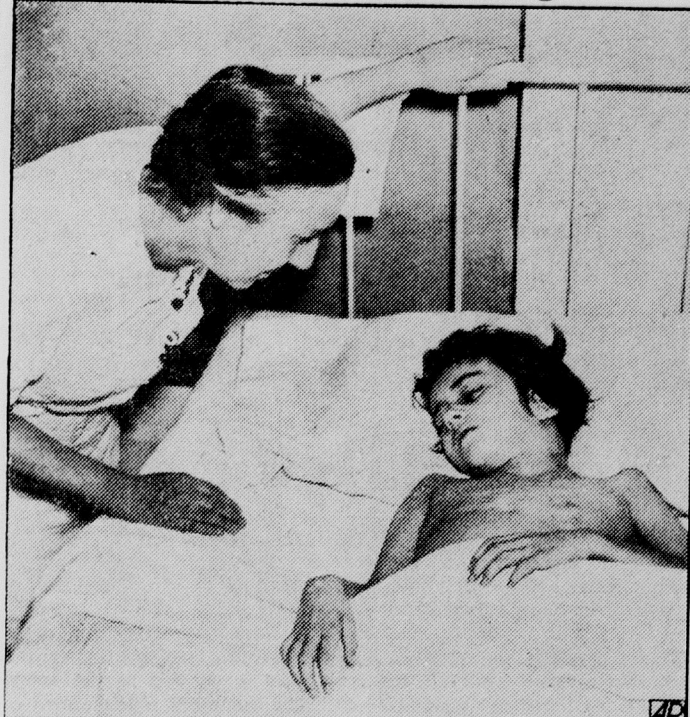

The quartet tied for national first-place honors with Los Angeles at last month's Elks convention in Denver.

Tomorrow's festivities begin with a dinner, free to Elks, at 6:30 p. m., followed by initiation of six candidates. Following the ritual will be a free vaudeville show.

It wasn't so bad until someone got the idea tossing tax tokens into the pool would bring eternal good fortune.

Assets of Loan
Units Increasing

Assets of federal savings and loan associations in the United States have passed the one billion dollar mark, according to a report just received from the Federal Home Loan Bank board by R. C. Raddant, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Santa Ana.

With an increase of $340,000,000 during the past year, the total assets are equivalent to approximately one-fourth of the assets of all active savings, building and loan associations in the entire country.

PLAYGROUND
SCHEDULE
ENDS SEPT. 4247,035 Children Use
Recreation Areas

All-time records for attendance at summer playgrounds have been smashed this year, it was announced today by Truscott Lindsey, head of the WPA recreational project, as he prepared to close down the playground project on Sept. 4.

A grand total of 247,035 children have taken part in playground activities during the period from June 21, when the playgrounds were opened for the summer, to Aug. 21, Lindsey said.

ADULTS ALSO

Besides the youngsters, 79,601 adults were spectators at various events and visited the recreational centers during the two-month period. This makes a grand total of 326,636 persons who had a part in the playground program this summer.

In Santa Ana alone the attendance figures amounted to 48,045 for the two-month period, it was announced. This figure includes those that attended special classes in handicraft and similar work carried on in connection with the playground program. Nine playgrounds were operated in Santa Ana, besides the municipal bowl, high school plunge and city park activities.

The program was carried on this year in 17 different communities in the county. While preparations were being made today to close down the project, arrangements were being made to conduct an intensive two-week training period for leaders in charge of the various projects.

The course of instruction will be in preparation for the fall program, details of which will be announced later.

State Business
Gains Continue

Activity in major lines of California business in July was well above the corresponding month of last year, with employment and weekly payrolls in manufacturing industries registering the most substantial gains, according to the current Bank of America Business Review.

Recording the seventh consecutive gain this year over the corresponding month in 1936, July employment rose 8.2 per cent above June and was 14.3 per cent ahead of July, 1936. Weekly payrolls in July were 6.7 per cent over June and 28.1 per cent above the same month of last year.

Anniversary Celebrated By Pair

With their twentieth wedding anniversary falling on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Flaherty took that occasion to entertain a group of friends and family members at dinner and an afternoon of games at their home, 702 South Broadway street.

The gardens of the Flaherty home were the setting for a noon dinner, and no other decorations were needed with the many garden flowers in full bloom. Guests spent the afternoon playing croquet and various other outdoor sports.

Congratulations were received by the celebrating couple from the group at the luncheon and later from other friends who called informally.

Prominent among those who helped Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty celebrate the anniversary were their five children, Jo, Dorothy, Patricia, David and Betty. Others present for the 1 p. m. dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Ed Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Edmeades and son Donald, and Mrs. Frances Lynne of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ziegler of Glendale; Mrs. Mary Block and daughter Connie of Kansas; and Mrs. Edna Bichan of Santa Ana.

The celebration was in a way a farewell to Donald Edmeades, who plans to leave early in September for New York where he will study medicine at Columbia university.

RECENT BRIDE IS HONORED AT PARTY

Mrs. Gregory Kuester, the former Miss Dorothy Krueger, was guest of honor last week when Mrs. Margaret Armstrong and Miss Frances Nuckols entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Nuckols home on Santiago boulevard.

The Kuesters recently announced their marriage, which took place in Yuma, Ariz., on Saturday. Games played were won by Miss Edith Kuester, Miss Vivian Chandler and Miss Donilda Dollard.

A tea table covered with lace cloth and centered with chrysanthemums was presided over by Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, and Mrs. J. W. Nuckols for the serving of a buffet supper.

Guests were Mrs. William F. Krueger, Mrs. Ida Kuester, Miss Edith Kuester, Misses Doris and Rosemary Flippin, Mrs. J. B. Nuckols, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, Miss Lois Allen, Miss Betty Gardner, Miss Bernice Williams, Miss Vivian Chandler, Miss Gloria Sohre, Miss Srida Labahn, Miss Audrey Hancock, Misses Ida and Helen Price, Miss Dorothy Gray, Miss Donilda Dollard, Miss Dolores Rogers, Miss Ruth Ehlens and Mrs. Lucille Cook.

GRANDPARENTS HELP CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

The fourth birthday anniversary of Master George Willott Sackman of Alhambra was the occasion for a celebration yesterday afternoon when his four grandparents from Santa Ana joined a party in Irvine park.

George came to Santa Ana with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Sackman, and his baby brother, William. They were joined here by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto M. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sackman, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hendershot with their baby son Richard.

The group motored to Irvine park where they enjoyed a picnic dinner which was climaxed with a gayly decorated birthday cake for the young honor guest. He was presented with many gifts, and the children spent the afternoon playing with them while the older people chatted.

MICKLEJOHN FAMILY ENJOYS BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday dinner given at Daniger's Saturday evening was a gala event, for it honored M. C. Micklejohn of 609 South Sycamore street on his natal day. A beautiful bouquet of pink gladioli had been sent by a son, James, of Beverly Hills, and near it on the table was a beautiful cake with four large lighted tapers. Included in the lovely gifts that were heaped on the table by the guests was one from a son in New Jersey, the only family absentee.

Included in the party were Mrs. Micklejohn, the family of his daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Brown, including Mr. Brown, Robert, Jr., Matthew, David, and Rosemary Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Howe of Los Angeles; James Micklejohn of Beverly Hills; Mrs. M. Weaver of Pasadena, and Suzanne Lenion.

HOUSEWARMING HELD AT ECKEL HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eckel opened their attractive new home at 1020 Freeman street to a group of intimate friends Saturday evening for a gay housewarming. After their guests had gone through the pretty rooms, they found card tables set up for bridge.

Lovely asters and zinnias were set throughout the living and dining rooms, sent from the garden of Mrs. W. E. Baker. These were used to center refreshment tables late in the evening. Guests of the Eckels were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. DeWolf, Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunn, and Mrs. William White.

Middle - Age Independence Is Problem Which Faces Newlyweds, Widow

Two letters today are concerned with the remarriage of parents of grown children, but each one faces a different problem. In the first letter, this young newly-married couple faces the problem of in-laws who insist upon upsetting the couple's plans for their own home, by moving right in with them. The other is from a widow who is completely independent with her own business, but contemplates endangering that by marrying.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Please help me. I'm 19 and a bride of two months. From the day of our marriage we have had four members of my husband's family living with us at intervals. His mother has been there permanently. His mother and father separated, she remarried, later separating from him. But three weeks after our marriage she took him back and brought him into our home also.

Neither contributes to their support although they are able and they have completely overrun our home.

My husband is working steadily and can support the two of us comfortably but under the circumstances, we are getting deeper and deeper in debt. Now, I didn't mind his mother moving in with us, although she has other places to go, and I've treated her better than her own daughters and overlook her domineering and selfish ways, but I think she's taking advantage of us when she brings my husband's step-father in. When ever his sisters have arguments with their husbands, which is frequent, they, too, move in with us.

We realize this cannot go on longer. My husband is in sympathy with me, as he, too, realizes we should be alone at least the first year of our marriage. He feels something should be done about it but is undecided as to what to do. Naturally he doesn't want to hurt his mother and I respect him for that. But he also loves me and I him, and we both want our home and to live our own lives.

Miss Stoddard, if either you or your kind readers can offer any solution to our distressing situation we would greatly appreciate it as we are both very unhappy. Thanks kindly,

DISILLUSIONED BRIDE AND GROOM.

Your husband wants to look at this situation in this light: You did not marry his family, any more than he married yours. The Biblical advice, "Leave thy father and thy mother and cleave unto thy wife," is a good thing, maybe better, than it was then.

Since your husband loves you, he would not wish to hurt your feelings either, but this he is doing, by letting his mother impose upon you.

If you can possibly arrange it for a time, at least, why not close up your home and move to a two-room apartment or very small cottage? If there's only one bedroom in your home those sociable relatives won't linger about much when it comes to sleeping on the floor.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am an elderly woman with grown children and have a small business of my own. I am really independent, but I started going with an elderly man who wants to marry me, but I cannot make up my mind.

He makes fairly good wages when he works and that is only from one to four days a week. He has nothing but a car and a few clothes, but is a good spender when he has it, and fairly good around the house.

He is a heavy drinker and I am reasonably sure he is stepping around with younger women. My children advise me not to marry

Two Couples Entertain At Party

The first of a series of pleasant early autumn parties was that given over the week-end by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks in the lovely garden livingroom of the Fairbanks home at 401 West Eighth street. Enclosed by vine-covered walls, this has a lily pool illuminated by tiny under-water lights, lovely flowers and cacti, and with its flagstoned lawn, made a lovely setting for the buffet supper that was served.

Another feature of interest to the guests as they were grouped at the small tables was the central lighting fixtures, for lights are suspended from noods of an old ox-yoke hanging from the eaves. This was brought from Vermont by the Fairbankses, and is more than a century old.

Songs and conversation filled the happy evening, with a session of ruck games later on in the house, which was beautifully decorated with mixed garden flowers. Mrs. Charles Nale and Warren Brake-man won high score prizes, and consolation awards went to Miss Anne Larmore and Mr. Adelbert Bell. Prizes were prettily wrapped in the black and rose colors that had been used on place-cards and tallies.

Guests of the two couples were Mrs. Robert E. Coulter, Mrs. Jessie White, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brake-man, Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Bell, Miss Gertrude Minor and her house guest, Miss Pye of Indianapolis, Miss Lula Minter, and Miss Anne Larmore, the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Atkinson.

ORANGE BRIDE-ELECT IS COMPLIMENTED

A gala affair was the garden party given in honor of Miss Eugenia Bode, daughter of Rev. A. C. Bode, Orange, on Saturday evening at the Reseda home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Auf Der Heide of San Fernando. Miss Bode will be married to her son William Auf Der Heide.

Interest centered about a gorgeous lily pool and flower garden, illuminated by colored lights. Each lady present was presented a rose corsage tied with white streamers and late in the evening the fate of the groom-elect wheeled a wheelbarrow before the betrothed couple, filled with gifts for their new home.

Most of the guests were from Hollywood or Los Angeles, the local persons attending being Miss Eugenia Bode, Miss Alma Bode, Mrs. Ernesta Bode, Miss Margaret Fitch, all of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. B. Sylvester, sister and brother-in-law of the bride to be of Colton.

RAINBOW CLUB HAS MEETING

Rainbow club members spent a pleasant afternoon last week at Hillcrest park in Fullerton, following their pot-luck luncheon by strolling around the park and taking snapshots.

In the group were Mrs. May Christman of Fort Collins, Colo., a visitor at the home of Mrs. Lem Walkinshaw; Mrs. Walkinshaw; Mrs. Roy Keichner, Mrs. A. E. Kohler, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. Mary Adamson, Mrs. Scott Torrens, Mrs. Will Hatch of Arcadia, and Mrs. Lawrence Warne of Covina.

WOMEN'S CIRCLE HAS MEETING

Mrs. Fred Miller was hostess to her fellow members of the Ladies Aid society of the Richland Avenue Methodist church, Circle No. 2, at her home, 1141 South Garnsey street, last week.

The ladies worked on articles for the fall bazaar and enjoyed refreshments served at the close of the meeting. Plans for future meetings include a combined circle meeting Sept. 2 at the church bungalow, with Circle No. 2 serving a 12-30 p. m. luncheon. Mrs. E. J. Warner will entertain the circle at her home on Willis street Sept. 16.

Book Review of the Week

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal. "The American Dream," by Michael Foster (Courtney Treasure Isle Gift Shop, 506 North Main)

By MOLLY HARVEY

WILL HAVE STAVE and his wife have to beg on the streets because he had recovered for himself the "old, old faith" that somehow, somewhere a time might come when men would live and deal among themselves with justice, and tenderness and truth." But like the other men of his family, visionaries and idealists, Shelby had heard a call that he could not resist; a challenge to all that was finest in him.

"This is the essence of 'The American Dream' by Michael Foster. While intrinsically and slowly moving it is one of the most sincerely written books I have read. About a third is devoted to the adventures and longings of Shelby's eccentric ancestors, with Puritan Boston, Indian warfare on the plains, opium trade in the Malay Peninsula, and mixture of blood in Shelby's veins, enough to explain his reticence, his early disillusion, his gradual maturity of thought.

The ready cannot help but feel the same challenge that faced Shelby. Let us take comfort in these words: "In the little lampit homes along quiet streets, the homes of people you never hear of because they are so busy keeping the world going, the American dream is still living."

There was Shelby's paternal grandfather, who became involved in an Irish uprising, and with a price on his head had shipped steerage to Boston. He had worked hard, become the head of a prosperous shipping business, and at the height of his success, deserted work and family to seek new frontiers. But why?

And why was Shelby himself, sickened to the point of nausea, with the record for the newspaper, standing on the threshold of a new life? Vision came to him that last day, when, with his bridges burned behind him he was ready to take his wife and child to their new home at desolate Crucifixion Bay. Perhaps his child

Willena Bell Married At Home

Utter simplicity characterized the wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Willena Bell and A. Redmond Doms of Beverly Hills. The gracious home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell at 2015 North Broadway, was decorated with lovely white flowers, and the bride herself wore an afternoon frock of soft green velvet with touches of gold, set off by a beautiful corsage of white orchids.

Miss Bell was unattended, and was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. William Wagner. She attended Santa Ana schools and was graduated from Pomona college. Mr. Doms also attended Pomona, where he was affiliated with Phi Delta fraternity. He is now in the motion picture business and is connected with the Beverly Hills Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The simple rites were read by the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan of the First Christian church, and the ceremony was witnessed only by close friends and relatives. After a northern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Doms will be at home in Beverly Hills.

NEARLY WEDS ARE HONORED AT SHOWER

Announcement that Miss Elaine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edwin Smith of Orange, and Lloyd A. Baker also of Orange, would be wed in the near future was inspiration Friday evening for a delightful party given in their honor by fellow members of the congregation of Trinity Episcopal church.

A musical program was greatly enjoyed, with numbers presented by Miss Rachelle Sostleg and Marvin Ewert, accompanied by Mrs. Merrill Bauer of Santa Ana. Many games were played, directed by Mrs. Lee Eastery.

Later it was discovered to be the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, choir director, and a lovely cake made by Mrs. J. J. Morey was brought in and placed before her while her son, Charles Armstrong, sang.

Miss Smith was presented with a number of lovely gifts, and refreshments were served at a long table decorated with pink and lavender asters. Lovely flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Frank Brown decorated the hall. In charge of the affair were Mrs. B. J. Morey, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, Mrs. Lee Eastery, Miss Elaine E. Smith of El Modena, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lempe.

VACATIONS IN HIGH SIERRAS LURE MANY

Al Jasper, 710 West Pine street, returned last Friday from a three-week vacation spent at Tuolumne Meadows, 70 miles from Yosemite Valley, reporting excellent luck in fly fishing.

Other Santa Anans vacationing in the territory, according to Jasper, are Arnold Lund, coach at Willard Junior high school, who is managing the Curry store at the Meadows; Newell Vandermast at Tuolumne Meadows on Thursday.

Clyde Patton, Santa Ana High school coach, is staying at Curry's High Sierra Camp beside Lake Tenaya, just 10 miles from the Meadows.

BIRTHDAY IS OCCASION FOR OPEN HOUSE

Anticipation of a very quiet 93rd birthday anniversary on the part of Mrs. E. D. McLeod, 632 North Birch street, gave way to enjoyment of a real birthday party last Thursday, when more than 20 friends called to wish her many happy returns of the day.

Her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. F. C. Townsley and Miss Joy were prominent among those visiting with her, and assisted in serving cake and punch to the visitors, many of whom were from Mendocino, Los Angeles, Garden Grove, and Santa Monica, and who brought lovely gifts.

GOLD IN THEM THAR SKIRTS

Here's one of the formal gowns the fashion experts predict will be seen this fall and winter. It was a number shown in a Chicago style pageant. The dress of gold lame features the Grecian influence and a wide skirt falling in graceful folds.

PINOCHLE CLUB MEETS IN FULLERTON

The Fullerton home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weidmeier was the setting last week for a meeting of the F. S. C. C. Pinochle club, with boules of lovely summer flowers forming the decorations.

Prizes for the pinochle game went to Mrs. Duane Berg and to Mrs. Elmer Ellington of Costa Mesa. A dessert course was served to the group by the hostess late in the evening.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eldridge of Corona del Mar, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ellington of Costa Mesa, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kastorff of San Juan Capistrano, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Berg and Mr. and Mrs. George Randall of Santa Ana. The next meeting will be held Sept. 1 at the Eldridge home at Corona del Mar.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. L. Redford, 1327 South Van Ness street, at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday for an all-day meeting. A book review will be given in the afternoon following a pot-luck luncheon at noon. Members have been asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

VERA GETTY GOES TO DANCE CONCLAVE

Miss Vera M. Getty, 1126 West Pine street, left yesterday morning for the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel where she will attend the annual southern California convention of Dance Teachers.

Miss Mignone, who has been Miss Getty's houseguest here, left yesterday to fill stage engagements in San Francisco. The two young women returned to Santa Ana earlier last week from a vacation at Catalina. Miss Getty will resume her teaching duties upon her return from Hollywood.

McREYNOLDS ON VACATIONS

B. J. McReynolds, Jr. and son, B. J. McReynolds, Jr., left last week for the High Sierras where they will vacation for some time. Driving north in a truck, they took with them three horses and plan to pack back in to the mountains after leaving the automobile.

Mrs. McReynolds and daughter Elaine, with Mrs. Gilbert Martien and daughter Dorothy left for Lake Arrowhead Saturday, planning a 10-day stay.

Cool Dishes Suitable For Autumn

By JUDITH WILSON

And now come the Dog Days of the year! Why do they call them Dog Days? One story is that the Dog Star, Sirius, is in the ascendancy, but we suspect that it is the time of the year when we like to lie around and not do much of anything—just like the family pooch.

You will have plenty of time for winter activities if you plan menus that can be cooked in a hurry and let the refrigerator do most of your work for you. The following are easy to do and cool to consume.

BANANA-APRICOT MOUSSE

¾ cup apricot pulp
1 cup mashed banana
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup apricot juice
¼ cup confectioner's sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cream, whipped

Press stewed or canned apricots through sieve and add to mashed banana. Add the lemon juice, apricot juice, sugar and salt and mix well. Fold in the whipped cream. Freeze in an automatic refrigerator or pack in salt and ice until firm. Thin, crisp butterscotch-nut cookies go well with this. Keep the servings small as this is a very rich dessert.

WESTERN SCRAMBLED EGGS

3 tablespoons light cream
6 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped boiled ham
¼ cup finely chopped onions
¼ cup chopped green pepper
Salt
Pepper

Melt the butter, add the pepper, onion and ham and saute slowly for 2 minutes. Break the eggs into a bowl, add the cream and salt and pepper to taste and beat with a fork. Pour into the frying pan and cook, stirring slowly until the eggs are soft and creamy. Serve immediately on slices of buttered toast.

MRS. DESSERTY IS HOSTESS FOR MISS VOGT

With the date of her September wedding drawing closer, Miss Esther Vogt is incentive for many delightful parties, most recent of which was an informal and intimate little affair at the Balboa cottage of Mrs. C. E. Desserty.

A dainty white and color scheme was used throughout for the luncheon, and the afternoon was spent at sewing and conversation, with Mrs. Desserty presenting the bride-elect with a shower of lovely miscellaneous gifts.

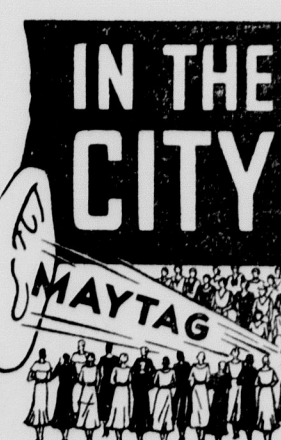

Guests were Miss Vogt, Mrs. H. A. Sauerbann, Mrs. A. L. Kubitz, Mrs. Ben Patton and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, mother of the honoree.

AT SAN DIEGO

Mrs. Fred Reyer of 2324 North Broadway and Mrs. Rella Woodington of Huntington Beach drove to San Diego Saturday to spend the day with Mrs. E. E. Levenhagen. In the evening they met Mr. Reyer and Polk Carmack, who had been deep-sea fishing for two days, and the quartet returned to Santa Ana.

Surgery Is Not Cure-All

By C. N. CHISMANN, M.D.

Many letters come to me from persons who have had a surgical operation, complaining they are no better or are even worse than before. They want to know why and what to do about it.

Most people think that no matter how many different things a person has the matter with them, the surgical removal of one diseased condition or organ should clear up all their troubles.

Surgery is wonderful and surgeons do marvelous things; but we must remember that when we open up a cavity and remove certain parts or organs, we are invading very delicate territory and nature resents such invasion. She has her own methods of repairing injury, and does it her own way.

When one organ or portion of the body is injured or diseased so seriously that nature cannot repair the trouble, we are justified in removing the source of trouble if it can be done without undue risk or injury to other vital organs.

Whenever tissue is cut or torn a denuded surface results. The surgeon endeavors to cover up all such places, but does not always fully succeed. If any inflammation occurs nature attempts to seal the inflamed areas at once. She simply attaches it to some other part and forms what we call an adhesion.

The resulting scar tissue, or the adhesion, is tense and it may interfere with the normal action of adjacent tissues and cause pain pulling and sometimes obstruction.

A surgical operation should not be undertaken except in an emergency until all efforts to remedy by other means have been exhausted, because inflammatory tissue and adhesions cannot always be prevented and much discomfort results.

SPAGHETTI DINNER GIVEN BY SACKMANS

A delightful spaghetti dinner followed by an evening of games greeted guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sackman when they arrived at the Sackman home, 1314 East Fourth street, Saturday evening. Guests were seated at one large table which was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a striking bouquet of red carnations and fern.

Present for the dinner were Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Jo Ann Baker, Joe McKee, James Decker, and Mr. and Mrs. Sackman. Later in the evening they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Olsen of Los Angeles for informal entertainment.

CHAPTER XXV

THE next morning, Lola went to the great Elite Pictures studio by herself. She believed even the best of guides would show her the glamour of everything but little of the hard-working side.

She wanted to know how long actors really worked about the heat and lights, and every other detail.

She learned much, especially from Winona Sargent, who she had known two years before on the New York stage, and who had gone into pictures with what was considered fair success.

To Lola's surprise, Winona longed to be back in New York. If she could get a fairly good part in a show, she would go back, she confessed.

"When I come off a set at the end of the day," she told Lola, "I'm worn to a frazzle. My eyes ache and I'm a nervous wreck. I was never half so tired when I was on the stage and finished up a matinee and night performance. And you have to do more fool things for publicity, too, and you have to circulate and entertain all that."

Lola was getting her eyes opened.

UPPERMOST in her mind, however, was her luncheon date with Norman Standish. She was back at her hotel in time to have a cooling shower and get into some of her most attractive new clothes before going down to the hotel lobby to meet him.

Standish and his wife were not staying with Mrs. Standish's sister, Mrs. Mansfield, for the Mansfields had only a small bungalow. However, they had rented a bungalow on the same street, and Cora was thoroughly enjoying herself, feeling that, having put the width of the continent between her husband and Lola Larkin, her worries were over.

After their visit, Cora figured they would return to New York and immediately sail for England to make their permanent home.

True to her promise, Cora had sent a long air-mail letter to Martha Carter as soon as she was settled. Naturally strictly honest in most things—although she would hesitate at nothing to keep from losing her husband—she wrote to Martha that she had been chasing Lola Larkin.

"Nora," she wrote, "knew all

I was never half so tired when I was on the stage and finished up a matinee and night performance. And you have to do more fool things for publicity, too, and you have to circulate and entertain all that."

Lola was getting her eyes opened.

UPPERMOST in her mind, however, was her luncheon date with Norman Standish. She was back at her hotel in time to have a cooling shower and get into some of her most attractive new clothes before going down to the hotel lobby to meet him.

Standish and his wife were not staying with Mrs. Standish's sister, Mrs. Mansfield, for the Mansfields had only a small bungalow. However, they had rented a bungalow on the same street, and Cora was thoroughly enjoying herself, feeling that, having put the width of the continent between her husband and Lola Larkin, her worries were over.

After their visit, Cora figured they would return to New York and immediately sail for England to make their permanent home.

True to her promise, Cora had sent a long air-mail letter to Martha Carter as soon as she was settled. Naturally strictly honest in most things—although she would hesitate at nothing to keep from losing her husband—she wrote to Martha that she had been chasing Lola Larkin.

"Nora," she wrote, "knew all about Victor's trip and that his business was to try to get Lola Larkin girl to go into pictures with his company. You see, I was terribly mistaken about it all."

The remainder of the letter had to do with a few of Cora's business affairs in New York that Martha was to look after, and about her plans to start for England soon.

MARTHA CARTER was relieved to receive the letter. She believed Cora had solved her problem nicely and that her husband would forget all about Lola Larkin. She decided not to write to Cora about the report from London detectives concerning Lola. It really didn't involve her and would only add to her worry.

"I'm going to see about renting a good car for a few weeks," Standish told his wife on the day he was to lunch with Lola, "so we may drive around a bit."

Cora thought it an excellent idea.

"Get a good luncheon hamper with it," she urged, "and we can have some picnics and look over Burbank and see some of the really big orange groves. Out here you can drive from tropic heat to snow-capped mountains and back in a day."

Standish agreed, and departed. Cora went over, as usual, to see her sister. She did not stay long, however, because she wanted to do some shopping. She wanted to get a complete layette for the niece or nephew so soon to arrive. She secured a taxi and set off for Los Angeles and the big shops.

Lola was so eager to see Norman Standish that she was down in her hotel lobby ten minutes ahead of time. He, however, was late. To Lola, it seemed ages that she waited. She watched the clock impatiently. She turned to see everyone who came into the hotel lobby.

Finally, when Standish was a quarter of an hour late, Lola was in a state of mind bordering on panic.

She wondered if Standish had told Cora about her and there had been such a scene that he couldn't get away.

AT LAST, when she had just about given him up, she saw him hurrying into the lobby. She was proud of his distinguished appearance. He carried himself with such an air!

"My dear, so sorry!" he said as he came up and kissed her.

He explained that he had to stop to rent a car, and it had taken longer than he expected.

"Do we lunch here?" he asked.

"No, I found a wonderful place, so cool and attractive, and their Mexican dishes are marvelous," Lola said. "They have cozy little single table nooks and we can eat and talk—especially talk."

"Right, my dear."

Lola took him to the restaurant and he quite approved.

Once more, however, fate stepped in. For Cora Standish, having bought the layette she wanted for her sister, drifted to this same restaurant.

At the entrance, she stopped short and stood frozen. She had caught sight of her husband and Lola Larkin, over in a far corner their heads almost together across the small table as they looked into each other's eyes!

Men's Hair Needs Attention

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Women's No. 1 complaint about the average man and his looks is the way he neglects his hair. Women love to rumple a man's hair providing it is soft and silky and there is enough of it to rumple! But most men could do with a lot more hair than they have.

The old saying about nobody loving a fat man might be applied to the bald-headed man. Certainly no one will think that he is handsome, no matter how good his other features may be. The sad part of it is that most men could have thicker, healthier hair if they would only take five minutes night and morning to give it some attention.

It hardly takes a minute to apply hair tonic, massage the scalp briskly and then give the hair some vigorous brushing with a stiff, penetrating hair brush. The tonic, incidentally, should contain some oil, for most men have hair that is too dry. Frequent wettings from the shower, inadequate shampooing and the habit of going bareheaded in the summer sun all contribute to this condition.

A man's hair should be shampooed regularly, but not quite as often as that of a woman. His hair is short and therefore more easily cleansed by brushing and routine care. A mild melted castile soap or, if there is dandruff, a tar soap shampoo should be used for this cleansing, and every trace of the soap rinsed away afterwards.

Men should try to get over the habit of dampening the hair with water every time they slick it into place. And he shouldn't use a lot of greasy stuff to keep his hair in place if he wants his girl friend to admire his hair. The regular use of hair tonic and a pomade if it is needed for dry ends, combined with a lot of brushing will usually train the most unruly locks to stay in place.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Surgeons prepared to perform an autopsy today on the body of Jane Weir, 21, film actress who died while recovering from an appendectomy.

The autopsy was ordered by the coroner's office after the cause of her death was not established through a post-mortem examination. Miss Weir died last Friday night.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The house approved today a senate resolution which will send 24 congressmen to Hawaii this fall to study the territory's request for statehood.

This time the treasury will not pay the bill. The trip is "on" the Hawaiian legislature.

However, the alluring offer of an "expensive free" trip to the islands failed to quiet good-natured republican opposition to the plan.

Representative Rich (R., Pa.) said the number of trippers should be cut to three or four because "24 members would mean no work and all play."

"Boy, it will sure be some party if we send 24 men clear to Hawaii," he remarked.

Frequent wettings from the shower, inadequate shampooing and the habit of going bareheaded in the summer sun all contribute to this condition.

A man's hair should be shampooed regularly, but not quite as often as that of a woman. His hair is short and therefore more easily cleansed by brushing and routine care. A mild melted castile soap or, if there is dandruff, a tar soap shampoo should be used for this cleansing, and every trace of the soap rinsed away afterwards.

Men should try to get over the habit of dampening the hair with water every time they slick it into place. And he shouldn't use a lot of greasy stuff to keep his hair in place if he wants his girl friend to admire his hair. The regular use of hair tonic and a pomade if it is needed for dry ends, combined with a lot of brushing will usually train the most unruly locks to stay in place.

C. A. Warren, manager for the Bank of America, accompanied by Mrs. Warren, has returned from a vacation trip which permitted an observation of the San Francisco bridges, the Yosemite and other parks, and a restful vacation.

Warren favored the sunny side of life and preferred the desert and interior routes.

Mrs. J. R. Brakebill of Spokane is visiting several weeks at the home of her son, Claude S. Brakebill, 2116 North Ross street.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Kisting left Saturday for Chicago, where they were called by the serious illness of the doctor's niece, Mrs. William Wenger. They will be gone two weeks, during which time Mrs. Kisting will visit her father, O. N. Harwood at Streator, Ill., a former Santa Ana.

Miss Lenore Ruby of San Diego is the week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. R. C. Gwaltney, 653 North Birch street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wellington, 322 Stanford street, planned to leave today for Flagstaff, Ariz., where they will spend two weeks with the latter's brother, L. G. Beamer. They will also visit the Grand Canyon.

Mrs. William Deane and daughter Mary spent the week-end with the former's mother, Mrs. Anna James, 204½ South Sycamore street. The two visited Mrs. J. R. Johnson and Miss Beverly Weindorf at Balboa Saturday.

Mrs. T. J. Wheatley and Miss Mary Jane Wheatley of McAlester, Okla., spent the week-end in the J. O. Heath home, 2140 Greenleaf street.

Mrs. H. C. Head, 214 South Birch street, her daughter, Mrs. Harold Knight (Iris Head), and her granddaughter, Analee Knight, are vacationing at Big Bear.

The auxiliary to the International Typographical Union will hold a potluck luncheon tomorrow at noon at Anaheim park.

Mrs. Bertha Danenhauer and daughter, Ruth, of Clifton, Ariz., have been visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. T. E. McLean, for several weeks. They are now occupying a Balboa cottage.

Miss Stella Graham of 2327 Benton way has returned from a pleasant two weeks' vacation spent in Santa Francisco and in the Redwoods.

Miss Mayme Brightwell, entertaining her sister Mrs. H. S. Winter of Los Angeles for the week-end, took her and Miss Robbie Jones to Daniger's for luncheon.

Elmer Christensen has returned from attending the American Legion convention at Stockton and from spending several days in San Francisco, Carmel and Santa Barbara en route home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Zerman of 505 South Sycamore street left today for a week's motor trip to Big Basin. They were accompanied by their granddaughter, Archelene Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Knudson returned Saturday evening from the East. They picked up a new car at Lansing, Mich., and returned via Indiana.

Miss Mary Tomlinson, 1214 South Parton street, has just returned to Santa Ana from San Francisco, where she had been employed for a month.

The Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan occupied his pulpit at the First Christian church Sunday, having completed a three weeks vacation.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Surgeons prepared to perform an autopsy today on the body of Jane Weir, 21, film actress who died while recovering from an appendectomy.

The autopsy was ordered by the coroner's office after the cause of her death was not established through a post-mortem examination. Miss Weir died last Friday night.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The house approved today a senate resolution which will send 24 congressmen to Hawaii this fall to study the territory's request for statehood.

This time the treasury will not pay the bill. The trip is "on" the Hawaiian legislature.

However, the alluring offer of an "expensive free" trip to the islands failed to quiet good-natured republican opposition to the plan.

Representative Rich (R., Pa.) said the number of trippers should be cut to three or four because "24 members would mean no work and all play."

"Boy, it will sure be some party if we send 24 men clear to Hawaii," he remarked.

BRIDE-TO-BE FETED AT BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. E. H. Smith of Orange entertained at a pretty party Saturday for Miss Elaine Smith, bride-elect of this month.

Bridge and the hemming of tea towels occupied the afternoon, with a dainty refreshment course served in Mrs. Smith's pretty garden. Prizes were awarded Mrs. P. H. Baker for auction, Mrs. Arch Burkett for contract, and Mrs. F. E. Smith for sewing.

Guests were the Mesdames Arthur Lemke, George Smith, C. J. Hibbon, J. L. Weaver, Clarence Lush, Northrup Ellis, Lohr Bauer, Anton Baker, Louise Bradshaw, Arch Burkett, Harold Thomas, John Hirst, all of Orange; Mrs. George Brandriff of Laguna, Mrs. Merrill Bauer, Mrs. Max Elliott, Mrs. Muriel Sheldon, and the Mesdames Mabel and Helen Lush, Annette Blythe, Alice Fene, Ethel Walker, Floyd Bradshaw, and Muriel Smith.

HOLLYWOOD — Unreel parade: James Cagney started out on the stage as a chorus boy and a hooper, but in pictures he made his fame as a tough guy—first as public enemy No. 1 and then, reformed, as a G-Man.

Now he's back where he started, hoofing in "Something to Sing About."

Edward Arnold's stand-in, William Hoover, looks so much like the star that he can double for him in fight and stunt scenes, even fairly close up. . . . For Arnold's stairway tumble in "Easy Living" Bill Hoover fell three times and wasn't scratched, but went home and tripped on a stone and was laid up for a week. . . . Says Arnold: "No, Bill isn't especially athletic but he's just a little more so than I am."

Louise Hovick (some say the girl who used to be Gypsy Rose Lee) was the best-dressed girl on Broadway is now being touted for "best-dressed" honors by Twentieth Century. . . . For a publicity squib Louise selects a comely Eddie Rader and Roland Young as her "ideal man," and says: "I want my men friends to be rugged individuals with a certain amount of stamina and determination about them."

HOLLYWOOD CHECK-OFF — The Screen Actors guild has no trouble collecting dues. The studios are scared silly that they'll unwittingly hire an actor not in good standing; so they check up on the dues and membership before putting any actor to work.

Shirley Ross is getting better photographic treatment in "Blossoms on Broadway" than she is in "Waikiki Wedding." . . . In that Crosby feature she looked at least 10 years older than she actually does off-screen.

GROWING OLDER — Saw Marian Nixon at a party. . . . Said she was through with pictures, and preferred housewifery of which she said: "It's nice work you can get it. . . . She

Congress and the Unemployed

Several thousand unemployed Americans are spending money they can ill afford to lose on a "national job march to Washington" that is certain to prove futile.

The Workers Alliance of America (a branch of which operates at Costa Mesa), which promoted this demonstration, instructing the unemployed to travel to the capital in automobiles and chartered buses, announced that the congress would put through the Schwellenbach-Allen resolution.

The resolution would order WPA to stop cutting its rolls and to provide relief jobs for all unemployed workers who can't find private employment.

But congress has adjourned. There is not the slightest chance that it will reconvene to consider and pass any new relief plan—certainly not one that might put relief spending back or near its highest peak and that would destroy all possibility of a balanced budget.

Those who encouraged the unemployed to march on Washington, at this time, have made a cruel mistake.

Yet unemployed Americans, and all Americans, have a very real grievance against the way this congress has mishandled the unemployment and relief problem.

It appropriated blindly, and without knowledge of the actual need, $1,500,000,000 for relief in the most expensive form. It disregarded all protests that this amount, though probably far too little to provide WPA jobs for all who would require the federal government's aid, might be made to cover the need if distributed more widely in the form of grants to supplement local direct relief.

And now that WPA, trying to stay within the present appropriation, has dismissed some 400,000 men and women from its rolls, it becomes evident that a great many of these people can get neither permanent private employment nor local relief, and that tens of thousands of them will face desperate suffering next winter.

This congress, admittedly in the dark about unemployment and relief, has failed to take effective steps to increase its knowledge or to provide the country with the one thing it most needs—a definite, consistent, long-range relief policy.

True, the senate has created an investigating committee which may do a useful job of finding fault with past relief methods. But the house labor committee tabled the Maverick resolution, which would have authorized an able commission to study the whole problem and to recommend a sound policy for the future. Instead, this house committee approved a senate bill for a census of unemployment.

So five million dollars of relief money will be spent to count the unemployed. Before the figures are tabulated, they will be out of date. And when congress faces the necessity of voting more relief money next year, it will know little if anything more than it knew this year.

The futile march to Washington will be a tragedy for those who take part in it. But the fumbling of congress with its duty to find out the right thing to do about relief is a worse tragedy, and a less excusable one.

It usually takes 50 years of married life for a couple to reach the agreement that marriage is a 50-50 proposition.

Polite Restraint

A recent set of news pictures from England shows an incident at a garden party given by the king and queen. One episode depicts the care given a woman who had fainted.

Many other guests, both men and women, passed the spot where the woman's friends and attendants strove to restore her to consciousness.

These, their eyes quickly attracted by the unusual activity, as soon as they became aware of the nature of that activity, would continue their stroll and their conversation "without batting an eyelash."

The English are masters of the art of controlling emotions, but this display of perfect reserve and self-control under unusual circumstances was praiseworthy.

To be sure, a king's garden party is an occasion which probably should be attended by decorum and perfect restraint, and it may be assumed that a great majority of the guests were schooled in the social graces.

There is, however, a little lesson in gentle manners for the average citizen who never fails to stop and stare at an accident or at any occurrence that brings about the discomfort of another.

The most polite and considerate course is that which, when the needs for the unfortunate one are assured, relieves him of the stare of prying eyes and grants him all the privacy a public mishap will permit.

It is not at all complimentary to the human race to see a throng of human beings milling around the scene of an automobile accident or other distressful happening.

The man ahead of the times has as hard a time as the man behind them.

The Years of the Strikes

From Jan. 1 to Aug. 1, this year, 24 strikers and sympathizers were killed and 490 were injured.

Back of those pitiful 24 dead and 490 injured are millions of dollars of lost wages.

Back of those figures are heartaches and bitterness. Back of those figures are general inconveniences to the public at large and added relief rolls.

Nineteen thirty-seven may go down in history as the year of the last great strikes. We believe this may come soon because thousands of men live by the simple rule of earned wages and paid bills.

NEW YORK.—Among the progressive statesmen of the new south mentioned in the list of those who share Mr. Roosevelt's idea of democracy, is Allen Ellender, of Louisiana. Time was when Mr. Ellender wanted no part of Mr. Roosevelt or his program. That was before the second Louisiana purchase, the bargain by which the remnants of Huey Long's following came over with their arms and political loot under a flag of truce to join the New Deal for amnesty for certain members of their group indicted for alleged violation of the income tax laws.

After the surrender the outstanding indictments were dismissed and Mr. Ellender, who had been one of Huey's most useful lieutenants as speaker of the Louisiana House of Representatives, was sent to the United States Senate as a New Dealer. As a follower and servant of the Kingfish he fully subscribed to all that Huey said against Mr. Roosevelt, and gave diligent co-operation in Huey's establishment of his dictatorship. He was not one of the income tax defendants, but each citizen may draw his own conclusions as to whether the whole reconciliation was conditional upon the exonerated of those who were defendants.

So much for the sincerity of Senator Ellender, the progressive statesman of the New South. His notion of democracy was demonstrated when he sat on his throne in the lower house of the Louisiana legislature as the dictator moved about the chamber roaring his commands or phoned to the dais of the governor's office down the corridor.

FRIEND OF 'DICTATOR'
The important thing about this new relationship between Mr. Roosevelt and Ellender is not that Ellender has changed sides, but that Mr. Roosevelt finds himself sympathetic with a man who recently took such an aggressive part in the creation of a dictatorship through methods somewhat similar to the President's. Huey also claimed to have a mandate to cover everything he did, and everyone who opposed him was attacked as a traitor to the popular will, and thus an enemy of democratic government.

To refresh your memory as to what Huey Long did in Louisiana, and indicate the type of democracy which Mr. Roosevelt finds acceptable in a progressive statesman of the New South at this time, here is a quotation from a report by Ray Daniel, of the New York Times, written at the height of Huey's career, when Ellender was speaker of the house in Baton Rouge:

"Louisiana's 2,101,000 citizens now are the more or less willing guinea pigs in the first American experiment with the authoritarian state as conceived by Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin."

"One pair of hands holds all the reins of government. One man makes its laws and interprets and enforces them. Swiftly and steadily Long has been increasing his grip until today the checks and balances provided by the United States constitution are virtually non-existent. The legislature and governor have been subservient. Through them he has been able to make over the laws of the state, to create a check to spy out his political enemies and crush incipient rebellions with military force."

"At the last election he gained control of the supreme court, which now stands four to three, any law he might conceivably cause the legislature to adopt."

CONTROLS SCHOOLS
"Since last August, when, with the aid of his legislature of 'yes men,' he transformed Louisiana from a state of democratic government to a military dictatorship, Long has held two more special sessions of his legislature to straighten out the remaining kinks in his system. He has arranged it so that the deputy sheriffs in the politically hostile parishes must obtain the approval of his OGPU before they can hold office."

"His state civil service commission has the right to pass on the fitness of all municipal police and fire department employees. Even the school teachers are subject to control by the long-owned state board of budget review. Still another law empowers him to supersede any district attorney in the state."

"The elected officials of East Baton Rouge have been rendered powerless by a law that gives the governor the right to appoint an equal number of his own."

"The people have learned that the easiest and safest way to get along is to go with the dominant political faction. Those who have learned that lesson will get the jobs, their friends and relatives will receive consideration from tax assessors and bank examiners and their lives will not be spoiled on by the secret police."

All this was accomplished with

This is a rather strenuous program, but it must be followed if the best results are to be obtained and the California growers are to retain their supremacy.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: The Brass Ring, "good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round," this week goes to a group of 25 men in congress, the first-termers who show promise of attaining full leadership in the next year or two.)

WASHINGTON.—The deep issues and great battles of this session of congress have made it historic, but it has been an exceptional session in two other respects as well.

The first is the grief and difficulty administration floor leaders experienced in riding herd on the top-heavy commands. The other is the rise of new and promising personalities in both chambers.

Even under the best circumstances, being a majority helmsman is no sure thing. It means long hours of work when other members are at leisure, constant attendance on the floor during the daily sessions, and being harassed by an endless stream of parliamentary details.

When on top of these burdens is added the thankless, heart-breaking task of trying to keep rebellious cohorts from stampeding, then the job enters the realm of the super-human.

Senator Joe Robinson died under the strain. His successor, Senator Alben Barkley, and Speaker William Bankhead and House Leader Sam Rayburn have not added any laurels to their lives in carrying the load. For the house generalists the last days of the session have been particularly bitter.

Despite the restless rambunctiousness of their huge Democratic flock, they had succeeded in keeping it from an open break with the White House. Until the last two weeks it looked as if they would chalk up a perfect score. Then suddenly five Southern colleagues on the rules committee took the bit in their teeth on the wage-hour bill and kicked over the apple-cart.

The irony of the revolt was that two of the ringleaders are deeply indebted to Rayburn. He put Representative Martin Dies of Texas on the committee last January after repeated pledges of unswerving loyalty. Representative Eugene Cox of Georgia was materially aided by Rayburn in the 1936 campaign when Cox encountered rough going.

Michael J. Bradley of Pennsylvania, 40, witty and fast on his feet, is an ardent pro-laborer, still holds a card in the telegraphers' union.

John M. Coffee of Washington, 40, brother-in-law of Senator Bone of that state, and one of the hardest-hitting of the freshmen group.

Edward Victor Isaac of California, 46, retired navy officer who despite his military background is a vigorous progressive and strong advocate of a central government-owned bank.

Frank W. Fries of Illinois, 44, one-time coal miner, sheriff and police chief, and a strong partisan of labor.

Lyndon Johnson of Texas, 27, "baby" member of the house but one of the most courageous and effective fighters among the newcomers.

Charles H. Leavy of Washington, 53, god-father of the great Grand Coulee power project. Although a first-term, he was elected to the appropriations committee and there made an outstanding record.

John Luecke of Michigan, 48, an ex-oller in a paper mill and

FAULTS IN EDUCATION

To the Editor: It occurred to me the other day, while I was selling a head of lettuce to a school teacher, that schools fail miserably. For if the purpose of education is to teach one how to live better it is obvious that one does not get educated in school.

We see that the movies, the theater, the magazines, all advertisements and songs tend to instill into all young minds that love culminating in marriage spells success. Do the schools at any time try to give a child a proper relation to life and to show him that his responsibilities really begin at marriage and that love which leads in marriage brings to an individual the greatest problems that he has to face? No. Schools follow the dictates of modern psychology and leave children to develop alone. Yet a young boy who wants to be a baker is not left alone for nine months with other boys that want to be bakers, but he is put under the direction of an expert baker and in a year's time he may get the drift. And yet for the most difficult job of all, that of learning how to live, we offer our children no guidance at all.

The result of course is a constant increase in crime and juvenile delinquency, institutions and extensive and intricate probation and parole systems; divorce as well as nervous disease always increasing, too—and none of our efforts really touch the cause.

The trouble of course is really with us. We, the average grown-up individuals, have developed a system in which we have been able to delegate all our responsibilities to education, prisons and paroles, police—and so now we can live with a clear conscience. We don't care and I guess I should do the same and go back to my lettuce.

PITTSBURGH.—If man could develop eyes with the magnifying power of microscopes, the air would appear to be full of balloons.

The particles of dust which ordinary air filters catch would look as big as stratosphere balloons.

THAT MICROSCOPIC EYE

More numerous would be the particles which no filter catches, such as tobacco smoke and ragweed pollen.

Particles of tobacco smoke, magnified 200,000 times, would be as large as golf balls. Ragweed pollen grains would each be 17 feet in diameter.

Any particle up to 50 feet in diameter would pass through the ordinary air filter, a screen with a mesh of 200 to the inch.

The actual size of the tobacco smoke particle is thirty-nine millionths of an inch. The ragweed pollen grain, which causes so much hay fever, is eight ten-thousandths of an inch in diameter.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Chairman John O'Connor of the house rules committee has coaxed high praise from the White House and laborites for his dogged fight in behalf of the stymied wage-hour bill. The New Yorker outdid himself in his efforts to bring the measure before the house—Utah is back on the map again in high senior circles.

Thomas, although a first term, was given the chairmanship of the labor committee following Chairman Hugo Black's appointment to the supreme court.

McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—Diary: A note from Lowell Thomas for me to pitch for his team at Pawling when the writers play the Washington out-curve is not what it used to be. A mated scree, too, from Burton Rascoe, roaming the western plains.

Came a half dozen ties from Charveta in Paris without a card but I suspect Charles G. Norris. So bedecking myself in one of autumnal russet and off with my lady to Esther and Bruce Barton's for Bruce's birthday party, then to Mary Armstrong's jam shop for some preserved cherries.

So at dusk driving to Mrs. Madeleine McGilone's on Pelham Parkway to see her fine Bostons and one, as frisky as a puppy, 10 years old and blind. Such a wrench I was in a dolor. And we remembered passing the Claremont we had not dined, but hearing jazz music, on home to the ice box.

One thinks of Ted Healy with his slouchy walk, rowdy twinkle and sloppy surlout as the roughest of hard guys. Especially when he hauls off and slaps his stooges a prawn pink. Yet there are few beautiful things of life. Now and then he goes on a flower binge, sending exquisite and personally selected posies to those he likes. He is also a frequent visitor to the galleries, standing enchanted before some canvas that has caught his eye. He is an astute judge of fine paintings. In New York and Hollywood he often sneaks off by himself to watch a sunset from some particular vantage. A newspaperman caught him one evening drinking in the beauty of a day's dying splendor over the Palisades. He was asked what he was doing. Just a musing, he replied.

Clowns from Pagliacci down have always had their pensive moments. Groucho, the famous European mime, is never happier than when spading in his garden. Toto, at the Hippodrome, used to sit on the fire escape in the evening to watch the sun in dying splendor. Silvers liked to sit on the battery wall and look out to sea. And Jimmy Savo is a frequent visitor to the Empire tower to watch the scatter of stars.

Walter Chrysler, Jr., has become one of the discriminating younger gourmets. Someone refers to him as "The Boy Frank Crownshield." His dinner parties at home and in the cafes are models of Epicurean selectness. He gives small parties, but in profusion. The late Ernest Cerutti, who knew foods as well as anyone of his day, said that a dinner with more than 12 diners became unmanageable for everyone. And he thought a correct number should be eight. And there was the conclusion of that trencherman, Count Boni de Castellane, who thought no dinner could be well eaten with more than one guest. And he thought there should be no conversation. It is true that many of the most celebrated lovers of food liked to dine alone. Diamond Jim Brady entertained extensively, but several times a week would square off to himself and lick the plate clean. Cesare Ritz, the hotel man, always had one luncheon and one dinner each week with no one present save the servers. Those were the meals he enjoyed most.

Nothing so completely swamps me as to be announced by a butler at one of those formal dinners. It has happened twice and each time when I stepped forward I expected to do either a split on the polished floor or hook an off foot in the yawning mouth of a Polak bear rug. So a friend, dropping by today has rare medicine. Last night, so announced at one of the stiff affairs, he got half way across the floor and let go a lulu of a hiccup.
